Commentary

The MSCI AC World Index returned 4.3% in February. Aided by renewed enthusiasm over rapid advancements in artificial intelligence, equities rallied in February despite a surge in US inflation readings and dwindling rate-cut expectations. After pricing in aggressive rate cuts from the US Federal Reserve in late 2023 and early 2024, investors have moderated their outlook in the wake of a string of strong US economic data points and signs that inflation may fall slower than expected.

Our portfolio outperformed the MSCI AC World Index in the QTD period. Among our top contributors were Advanced Micro Devices (AMD) and Netflix. There were both positives and negatives to AMD's earnings results. In terms of negatives, the gaming business is weighing on results due to maturing console sales. However, the AI momentum around its MI300 GPU offering continues to trend toward our bull case with a growing order book and an updated 2024 revenue projection of $3.5 billion versus $2 billion last quarter. Furthermore, AMD noted strong relative performance results of the chip versus NVIDIA's competing product. While we continue to have high conviction, we trimmed the position due to our valuation discipline.

We continue to believe that streaming will replace linear TV, and part of that migration will include advertising. Netflix's new advertising-supported offering is allowing it to both capture ad revenue and appeal to value-conscious consumers. Also, the company's efforts to convert password-sharing users into paying customers may dramatically expand the subscriber base. Recent earnings results continue to be thesis-affirming with 13 million net new subscribers added in Q4. We also believe the company is now operating in one of the most benign competitive environments in its history and will continue to take price as appropriate.

Among our top detractors were Atlassian and Vestas Wind Systems. Atlassian's earnings results met expectations for cloud revenue growth. However, this was insufficient for investors to support the stock's momentum after strong recent performance. While parts of its cloud business, such as enterprise, are exceeding expectations, there are signs of weakness within small and medium-sized businesses (SMB), where pressures persist in paid seat expansions. While we remain optimistic longer term, we don't see a near-term catalyst for the SMB users to accelerate cloud growth and trimmed the position.

Vestas remains well positioned to capitalize on the secular trend toward a less carbon-intensive world given its ability to produce onshore wind turbines at a low cost not predicated on subsidies. While its margins have been hampered by supply chain instability and cost inflation from raw materials, transport and turbine components, we believe several of these headwinds will prove transitory longer term. The company continues to believe that 10% operating margins by 2025 is achievable, and we will be closely watching developments around pricing power, operating leverage, warranty claims and continued supply chain pressures.

Carefully consider the Fund's investment objective, risks and charges and expenses. This and other important information is contained in the Fund's prospectus and summary prospectus, which can be obtained by calling 800.344.1770. Read carefully before investing.

Current and future portfolio holdings are subject to risk. The value of portfolio securities selected by the investment team may rise or fall in response to company, market, economic, political, regulatory or other news, at times greater than the market or benchmark index. A portfolio's environmental, social and governance ("ESG") considerations may limit the investment opportunities available and, as a result, the portfolio may forgo certain investment opportunities and underperform portfolios that do not consider ESG factors. International investments involve special risks, including currency fluctuation, lower liquidity, different accounting methods and economic and political systems, and higher transaction costs. These risks typically are greater in emerging and less developed markets, including frontier markets. Securities of small- and medium-sized companies tend to have a shorter history of operations, be more volatile and less liquid and may have underperformed securities of large companies during some periods. Growth securities may underperform other asset types during a given period.

MSCI All Country World Index measures the performance of developed and emerging markets. The index(es) are unmanaged; include net reinvested dividends; do not reflect fees or expenses; and are not available for direct investment.

For the purpose of determining the Fund's holdings, securities of the same issuer are aggregated to determine the weight in the Fund. The discussion of portfolio holdings does not constitute a recommendation of any individual security. These holdings comprise the following percentages of the Fund's total net assets as of 29 Feb 2024: Vestas Wind Systems A/S 1.3%. Securities named in the Commentary, but not listed as a Top Ten Holding or not listed here are not held in the Fund as of the date of this report. The portfolio managers' views and portfolio holdings are subject to change and the Fund disclaims any obligation to advise investors of such changes.

Unless otherwise indicated, all information in this report includes all classes of shares, except performance and expense ratio information, and is as of the date shown in the upper right hand corner. Totals may not sum due to rounding.

Our capital allocation process is designed to build position size according to our conviction. Portfolio holdings develop through three stages: GardenSM, CropSM and HarvestSM. GardenSM investments are situations where we believe we are right, but there is not clear evidence that the profit cycle has taken hold, so positions are small. CropSM investments are holdings where we have gained conviction in the company's profit cycle, so positions are larger. HarvestSM investments are holdings that have exceeded our estimate of intrinsic value or holdings where there is a deceleration in the company's profit cycle. HarvestSM investments are generally being reduced or sold from the portfolios.
